STOKED

HANDMADE FOR LIFE

A LIFETIME OF RELAXATION AND ENJOYMENT

INTRODUCTION

Elevate your lifestyle with our luxury handcrafted range of Pools, Spas, Hot Tubs, and Baths. Each one carefully designed and built in New Zealand for some of the world's harshest outdoor environments.

Stoked tubs are made to last and designed to be part of your everyday ritual. From their striking architectural presence to the warmth, atmosphere and connection they create, every tub reflects a commitment to quality, longevity and genuine care.

This is outdoor living for life. Thoughtful, immersive and built for the moments that matter most.

THE STOKED STORY

Our founders Dan and Andrew started the Stoked story back in 2010.

When the boys began experimenting with their stainless steel spa design, there wasn't anything else like it in the world. Using offcuts from the steel tanks they were producing in their day jobs, two prototype tubs were built to test the comfort and size, and soon, friends and family were asking when they could buy one. Those first two prototypes are still very much in service today (Andrew still has a copy of the first cheque for the sale of Tub#1).

So, in 2012 Stoked was registered as a company and things truly began to take shape.

By 2016, Stoked was flat out and it was time to shift gears. Setting up a purpose-built workshop in Wānaka was the next milestone. A clear statement of confidence from a New Zealand company setting a new standard for durability, aesthetics and customer service.

Stoked is a brand built on enduring values of sustainability, personal service and elegant design. Today, the organisation is still steered by the original duo, supported by a team in both New Zealand and Australia.

THE CUSTOMER MUST BE STOKED

Attention to detail, focus on quality, uphold the standard, on time/in time, raise the bar, your work is our brand, would you buy that? Protect the brand, zero faults, proud of our work, love the customers, responsive, integrity and authenticity of what we do, go the extra mile.

SAFETY FIRST

We produce high quality products that are safe for you, the environment, your family and friends. We look out for others, lead by example and are accountable.

CLIMATECARE
CERTIFIED

Stoked is the first manufacturer offering Spas and Hot Tubs in both New Zealand and Australia to be Climate Care Certified. Marine grade stainless steel's longevity makes it easier to clean and maintain hygiene without excessive chemical treatments.

Climate Care Certified is an industry sustainability certification program that recognises environmentally responsible products, systems, and installations used in residential and commercial environments. Developed by the Swimming Pool & Spa Association of Australia Ltd, the program focuses primarily on the pool and spa industry, setting benchmarks for solutions that improve water efficiency, energy efficiency, noise reduction, sustainable design, and innovative environmental performance. Products, equipment, and installations are independently assessed to ensure they meet strict sustainability criteria, helping businesses and homeowners identify options that reduce environmental impact while maintaining performance and efficiency.

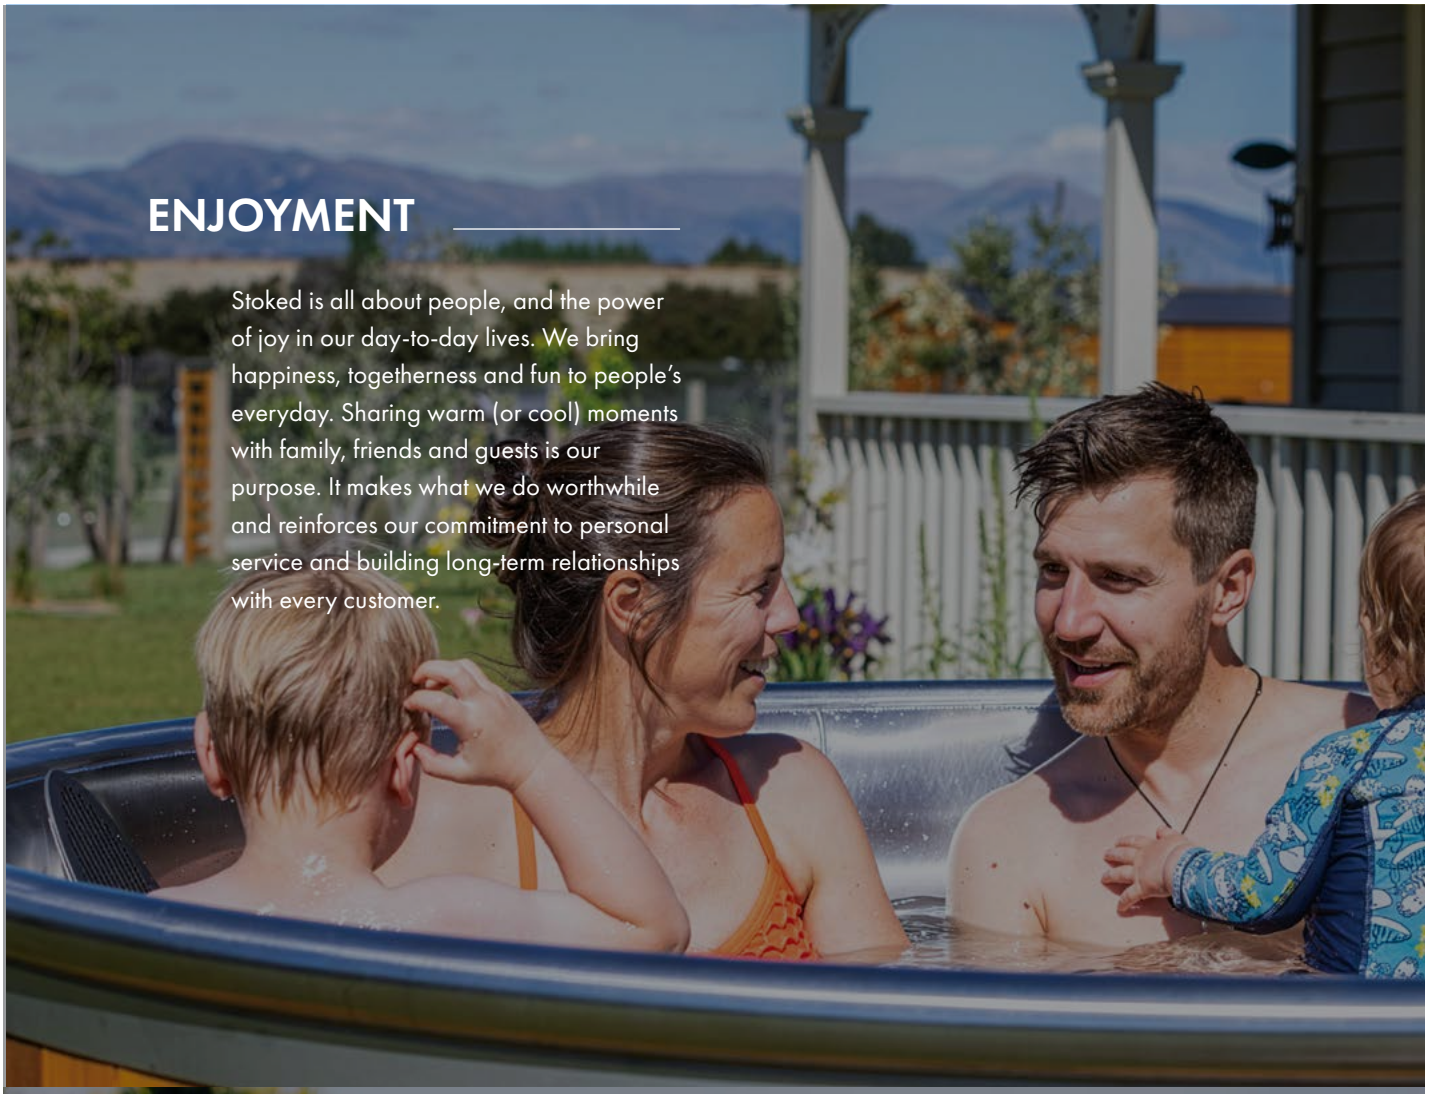

THE PROMISE

LIFETIME

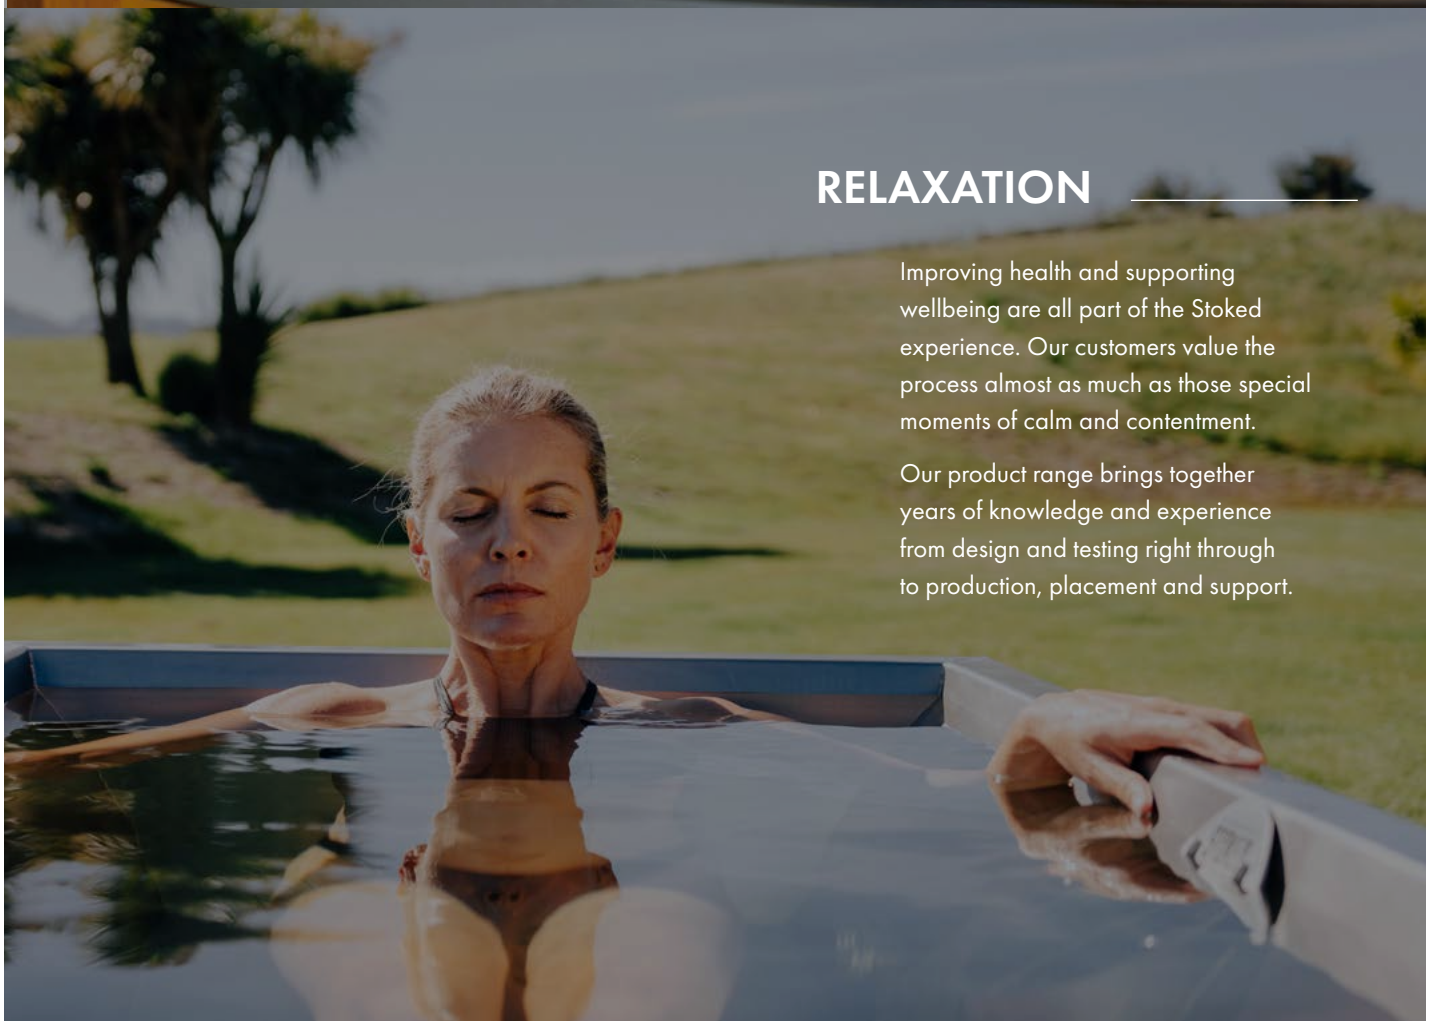

Best summed up by our approach to sustainability through longevity and material choice. Stoked is handcrafted for all lifestyles and produces beautiful objects that become part of the family and are passed on through the generations.

The other part of the sustainability story comes from the reduced need for harsh chemicals and the confidence of our 50 year warranty on our stainless tub and structure, coupled with exemplary service and support.

ENJOYMENT

Stoked is all about people, and the power of joy in our day-to-day lives. We bring happiness, togetherness and fun to people's everyday. Sharing warm (or cool) moments with family, friends and guests is our purpose. It makes what we do worthwhile and reinforces our commitment to personal service and building long-term relationships with every customer.

RELAXATION

Improving health and supporting wellbeing are all part of the Stoked experience. Our customers value the process almost as much as those special moments of calm and contentment.

Our product range brings together years of knowledge and experience from design and testing right through to production, placement and support.
